HOME STATE MADE FOR TRAVEL

A year and a half ago when I began remodeling a 70-year-old house, I wanted to preserve some history while bringing the old girl into the 21st century, and that included taking a real inventory of the heirlooms I had inherited that might be reporposed for the job. Enter Todd and Ivy Childers, owners of Vineland and Hickory as well as Home State Made.

The couple were able to repurpose an antique sewing machine by adding a beautiful, ragged cut slab of maple. Voila! I had the perfect foyer table.

Fast forward to 2022 and we have a Made in NC Style winner for a bag that Ivy created entitled "Traveling Soldier."

Made of surplus military fabric and leather, the bag is combination of all that is essential in a traveling companion - style, ruggedness and functionality.

Both stores offer hand crafted or personalized furnishings, homewares and personal items.

"From old things come a new, beloved thing."
